REPORT OF HIGHWAY AGENT

Expenditures and Savings for the Year

The flood cost the Town considerable this year, totaling $874.11, which came out of the Town's maintenance. Most of this gravel and time was put in in places which we would not have had to repair had we not had the flood.

Repairs and Improvements

The tractor was overhauled by the Caterpillar Tractor Co., of Concord, which cost about $265 and is now in good shape for the winter. By overhauling it we have cut the gas consumption more than half. The tractor is also kept in a heated garage during the winter months.

We have used more gas this summer than usual by using the tractor and large grading machine which does much better work than the small grader.

We also appreciate the cooperation which the garages have given us during the year. They have given us a discount of two cents a gallon on gas. The bill is then sent to the state where the state tax of four cents a gallon is taken off. This makes a saving of six cents a gallon. On oil used by the town they have given us a discount of twenty cents a gallon, which together with the state tax of four cents makes a saving of twenty-four cents a gallon.

We also saved $37.35 in putting up the snow fences this year.

Snow Plow

The town did not have a plow suitable for the coming winter. As it was not brought up at the last meeting, we have hired one for the winter with the option if it does satisfactory work we would like to buy it.

Conclusion

I have kept within the appropriation for the year, but there has been more than that spent which was used before I took office.

During the past year I have hauled over 1,500 loads of gravel.

I have made a few mistakes which I now can see, but the best of experienced men can make them.

I appreciate the cooperation that the citizens and selectmen of the Town of Raymond have given me during the past year.

Road Agent.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT TO THE SUPERINTENDENT AND SCHOOL BOARD

The school year, 1936-37, opened with an enrollment of 64, which increased to 66, in the Senior High School and 45 in the Junior High. The Senior High enrollment is lower than last year, partly because of a large graduating class last June and a small entering class this fall, and partly because increased employment has caused some to withdraw from school. The reports of the State Department of Education state that Raymond has a higher per cent. of pupils dropping out of school than does the state of New Hampshire as a whole. This is to be regretted and it is hoped that better cooperation on the part of parents, teachers, and pupils may keep all capable pupils in school until graduation.

The Debating Team last year placed second to Laconia in a tournament for the championship of New Hampshire and Vermont, defeating teams from Groveton, Whitefield, and Windsor, Vermont, and losing to Laconia.

In the Bates League we also lost to Laconia, again by a split decision 2-1, while we won from Sanborn Seminary 3-0.

The team is hard at work on this year's question—Government Ownership of Electric Utilities—at present.

There has been renewed interest in track the past year, with a good squad out. It is hoped to have several dual meets as well as having to team at the Inter-scholastics at the University of New Hampshire.

Basketball has been again carried on under difficulties and we wish to thank all who helped us to carry it on at all. It is to be hoped that some place for local basketball can be provided soon, as a decrease of interest in one school activity carries over to all other parts of school life.

In the fall a new plan of presenting plays was tried, with three one-act plays being presented instead of the usual three-act play. The audience was asked to vote as to which play was presented the best. The plan seemed to add interest and it had the further advantage of giving more pupils a chance to participate. The proceeds were used for magazines for the school library which is well-supplied with them now. A few more reference books are needed, however. We wish to express our appreciation to Mrs. Jeanette Brown for a fine set of history books, given in memory of her husband, the late Edgar Brown.

The number of visits to school of parents continues to be very small. Your presence and cooperation are needed there as well as at our games and socials and would be a very real help in our combined purpose to provide the best education possible for the young folks of Raymond.

Respectfully submitted,

L. P. BAGLEY,

Headmaster.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Raymond:

It is a pleasure to present to your Board my eighth annual report. Attention is called particularly to changes in the staff of teachers, growth and reorganization of the junior high school, gain in punctuality and promotion, improved health supervision, special activities, buildings and equipment, and five years' investment.

Changes on Teaching Staff

After completing in Raymond three years of efficient service as teacher of science and agriculture, Mr. Jonathan A. Osgood resigned in June, 1936, to accept a similar position in the high school of Walpole, New Hampshire.

We are fortunate in securing as Mr. Osgood's successor Mr. Sewell W. Gilman of Walpole. Mr. Gilman was graduated in 1936 from the four-year course of the Smith-Hughes Agricultural Department at the University of New Hampshire. He commenced in July the required supervision of farm projects, and completed during the summer an agricultural survey to aid in the closer correlation of our high school instruction with the agricultural activities in those communities sending boys to the Raymond High School.

Miss Ellen L. Disken completed in June two years of effective work in our commercial department. During the summer she tendered her resignation to accept a similar position in Wallingford, Connecticut.

This vacancy was filled by the election of Miss Brenda Fisher of Rochester, New Hampshire. Miss Fisher is a 1935 graduate with degree from the four-year teacher training course in commerce at Plymouth Normal School. She also has had much practical office experience.

Miss Catherine Dube was a teacher in our elementary grades for less than a year when she resigned to continue teaching in Gorham, New Hampshire.

Miss Dorothy Britton of Keene succeeded Miss Dube in the elementary grades. In 1935 Miss Britton completed at Keene Normal School the three-year junior high school training course, and continued during the following year a course in special elementary training. Miss Britton is thus eligible to teach both elementary grades and through the first two years of the senior high school course.

While the salaries of teachers in Raymond compare favorably with those in some neighboring towns, they do not exceed the average paid in the state. The three teachers, who withdrew from our staff this year, accepted teaching positions at salaries ranging from one hundred to four hundred dollars more than they were receiving in Raymond.

Growth and Re-organization of the Junior High School

This year the seventh and eighth grades of the junior high school have an enrollment of forty-five pupils, which number exceeds the early enrollment in your senior high school. Since the junior high room could no longer accommodate both grades, the commercial room and the old science laboratory have been made into one room, additional window space provided, and the typewriters located behind a glass partition. The commercial teacher is now able to conduct her classes and at the same time supervise the pupils of the eighth grade. By this means the need of an additional full-time teacher in the junior high school has been eliminated.

The increased number of classes has been cared for by the reorganization of courses and the re-distribution of teachers' time. The geography and history of the seventh grade are now combined in a single course. The social science series, edited by Professor Harold Rugg of Columbia University, is used. It is proposed another year to effect a similar combination with this series in the eighth grade. Miss Britton conducts the social science classes in junior high school during half of the morning session, and devotes the remainder of the day to a home-room group in the lower grades. Her entire salary is paid by the state.

Gain in Punctuality and Promotion

While an epidemic of the mumps slightly lowered the percentage of attendance, there was a distinct gain in the punctuality of pupils of all grades. The number of tardinesses per pupil was cut down from 2.4 to 1.4. This represents the elimination of approximately 270 cases of tardiness. The improved record is very largely due to the frequent school visits and follow-up work of your Attendance Officer. I commend to your attention his printed report for the year ending in June 1936.

Through the four methods outlined in my report last year, we are approaching the goal of 100 per cent. promotion in June. Last year the percentage was raised for all schools from 85 to 96. Five of the seven home-rooms in Raymond had a percentage of 100 in promotion.

The cooperation of parents in many cases greatly assisted in increasing the number of promotions.

A complete record of every pupil in the first eight grades is kept at the Superintendent's office. Parents are urged to consult with the teachers and Superintendent concerning the progress being made by their children.

Improved Health Supervision

Again this year a special allotment of state money was made available to retain in Raymond the services of an experienced and progressive school nurse. Her printed report gives briefly the health work achieved during the year, ending with June 1936.

It is directly through the efforts of the school nurse that the New Hampshire Tuberculosis Association recently sponsored in Raymond a tuberculin "skin-test" clinic, conducted by Dr. Robert B. Kerr. A total of seventy children in the junior and senior high school of Raymond were tested.

Written permission is obtained from the parents of the children before the tests are made.

Ten pupils reacted to the first test, and sixteen others reacted to the second test. Twenty-four of these reactors have had chest X-rays taken at the Elliott Hospital in Manchester. Twelve X-rays show no pulmonary pathology, while twelve others are being followed up with periodic examinations by Dr. Kerr.

The expense of chest X-rays is borne by the parents. The hospital grants a much reduced price to clinic patients. In a few cases where parents have been unable to meet the expense, this money has been advanced by the Raymond Parent-Teacher Association.

Since the "skin-test" clinic is not widely known, I quote from Dr. Kerr, "The tuberculin test, if positive, indicates that the child has received into his body some tubercular germs which may be dormant. The clinics are for the purpose of finding out children presenting early symptoms and signs of the disease. In a tuberculin test only the filtration from the culture from tuberculosis germs is used. No germs alive or dead are used in the injections."

Special Activities

The patronage of the school lunches has grown each year. Figures for the year ending with June 1936 are given in the printed report of the teacher of home economics. At present an average of one hundred pupils a day are being served. Over twenty of these children, who otherwise would be deprived of hot lunches, are generously provided for by the Parent-Teacher Association, other local organizations, and public spirited individuals.

Since early in this school year the Gable Shoe Company has provided a daily milk ration for twenty underweight children. No better evidence of appreciation is needed than the readiness with which these boys and girls drain the last drop from the milk jars. The added nourishment at frequent intervals raises appreciably the mental alertness of the children.

Through the initiative of the Parent-Teacher Association a group of interested men and boys with two trucks and a pair of horses completed in one day, late this fall, the excavation for tennis courts and skating rink begun by the C. W. A. in 1934. The machine leveling was also completed. Hand leveling and the application of clay surface will complete the double court. Credit is also due the women of the P. T. A. who assisted the men by serving a bountiful dinner in the domestic science rooms.

Through the director of the New Hampshire office of the National Youth Administration, seven pupils, who could not continue in high school without financial assistance, are given regular employment for which payment is made monthly from a federal allotment depending upon the number of hours of actual service. In no case can the sum earned by an individual exceed six dollars a month. A pupil to be eligible must be in full standing in scholarship.

A practical demonstration of habits of thrift is being conducted by the forty pupils of the third and fourth grades. Under the supervision of the teacher a school savings bank is operated by the children themselves. At the opening of school each morning depositors are in line before their banking booth. Individual bank books and deposit slips are used. As a motivated lesson in arithmetic these accounts are checked by the pupils every week. Withdrawals are made only upon a written request signed by a parent. The children are encouraged to make regularly small deposits, the aim being to establish habits of thrift rather than large accounts. Over ninety per cent. of the pupils are depositors. The patronage of such a system by other grades in the school would be a worth-while project in thrift. In many schools such a bank is conducted by the commercial department.

Of nation-wide interest have been the free public forums established by the federal commissioner of education, John W. Studebaker. Manchester is one of the ten forum centers selected throughout our country. Through our proximity to such a center, two forums a month are being conducted in the Raymond high school. These give opportunity for a free discussion of current economic and social questions under the leadership of men and women widely known in their respective fields. Both sides of the questions have been supported, and participation by the audience in the various discussions has been general. The government requires that there shall be no admission charged to these forums nor any other type of fee.

Buildings and Equipment

The enlargement of the commercial room is the only major improvement made this year in the main building.

Through the lack of money outside repainting was postponed. This should be completed before another winter.

To facilitate the serving of school lunches an ample supply of hot water has been made available in the domestic science kitchen. This is supplied by a thirty-gallon copper tank, located in the boiler room, and heated by a water coil from one of the steam boilers.

Replacement of seating equipment in the high school and the accommodation of fifty-one pupils in the intermediate room have necessitated the purchase of fourteen additional chairs and desks.

Outside repainting was confined to the science and shop building which was most seriously in need of attention. All labor on this building was performed by the janitor.

Late in the fall the instructor and boys of the farm project classes assisted the janitor in moving the old building, used for fuel storage, from the front grounds to a location at the rear of the farm shop. The old building has been repaired and enlarged, and is now conveniently located in the vicinity of the science building and home economics kitchen where practically all wood fuel is used.

Before another school year the repair and replacement of equipment should include two valve-flush toilet units and an enameled iron sink in the boys' basement, a similar sink in the girls' basement, and in the commercial department the exchange of three old typewriters for new machines before the period of exchange allowance expires.

If the present heating unit is used in the main building another year, attention should be given to at least partially fire-proofing the furnace room, and to the installation of larger feed pipes supplying steam for radiation in the north wing of the building. The latter change should lead to a substantial saving in fuel consumption.

Five Years' Investment

Five years ago the Raymond School District authorized the addition of the north wing to the main building, where sixty children and the domestic science department are now accommodated. The addition and its equipment cost the district $8,000.00 and increased the total district debt to $16,750.00.

For the same five year period high school tuition receipts total $11,797.08, of which $10,250.00 have been used in payment of principal of debt. At the present date the total district debt for which funds have not been raised is $5,500.

Public schools in New Hampshire are not standing still. New elementary, or junior and senior high school buildings have been recently completed, or are nearing completion, in Durham, Rollinsford, Whitefield, Lincoln, Hanover, Penacook, and Hooksett. These are P.W.A. projects to which the federal government has made a free grant of forty-five per cent. of the total cost.

The time is near at hand when Raymond must enlarge its school building, providing a gymnasium that can also be used for public auditorium, or see its support from neighboring towns turned in other directions.

In Conclusion

I wish to express to the Town Budget Commission appreciation of the thorough study it made, last year, of school finances and of regulations governing the allotment of state and federal aid. It would be an assistance if a larger number of citizens were familiar with these important details.

To Dr. Fred Fernald and the Bourque Brothers we are indebted for the generous money prizes awarded to the winners of the eighth grade speaking contest.

Also to Mrs. Ella A. Allen of Chester we are indebted for a new set of the Times Encyclopedia in eight volumes, recently presented to the commercial department.

Characteristic of the past year has been a more general co-operation by parents. I believe this is largely in response to the home visits made by your teachers. It greatly assists both the child and the teacher in making those improved adjustments that determine educative growth. The attitudes of the child, more than high marks, determine his prospects for efficient living.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE H. HARMON,

Superintendent of Schools.
